Discussion Starters

- 1) Jeremy talked about how we are quick to say we believe the Bible is the Word of God and is important for our lives, but we often live like the bible really doesn't speak to our specific problems. Why do you think that is and how are you personally challenged by that thought?
- 2) What have been some of the most helpful, encouraging, challenging, and/or thought-provoking times you have had in the Bible? (Could be personal time, a bible study, church service, podcast, conference, life group, or just a conversation.) Why do you think we struggle to talk about the bible in just everyday normal conversations or in groups like this?
- 3) How can we as a group better help one another read, study, listen to, understand, and live out the Word of God more effectively?
